BROKEN BOW, CUSTER COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1901.—EIGHT PAGES.

NO. 41.

A dainty, delicate piece of jewelry adds to the attractiveness of a woman as no other article of personal adornment can.

Good jewelry bought of a reliable jeweler is always a pleasure to the beholder and a satisfaction to the possessor.

In jewelry selling I am not always the lowest in price, but always best in quality, and as low as anybody can sell jewelry equally a good.

Another point—I prefer to make one satisfactory sale rather than make the profits on a dozen unsatisfactory ones.

It isn't the material that goes into your repaired watch that results in a perfect job, it is the know how.

that does the business, any bungler can buy the fine kinds of material that I use in repairing; but skill is the most valuable material that can be used in watch repairing; and the bungler can't buy it. I sell my skill for what it is worth and it will cost you less than bungling at lower prices.

ALPHA MORGAN,
President of the Council.

Flour!

We will sell Flour as cheap as the manufacturer. J. C. BOWEN.

Dietrich and Millard

State House, Lincoln, Neb.,
March 28, 1901.

(Special Telegram)—Thompson withdrew, and C. H. Dietrich and Joseph Millard were elected, each securing seventy votes.

D. M. AMSBERRY.

Local Mention.

Richard & Pringle Saturday night. The Ansley Advocate is a thing of the past.

The assessor will be turned loose next Monday.

S. P. Groat has purchased the opera house block.

James Osborn is doing carpenter work at Merna this week.

Ansley has two tickets in the field for the spring election.

H. B. Glover, of Dry Valley, was a friendly caller at this office Saturday.

Dr. R. C. Talbot went to Dunning Tuesday evening to look after his cattle.

Loren Lewis came down from Alliance this morning to renew old acquaintances.

D. M. Amsberry is in Lincoln today witnessing the final struggles of the state legislature.

John Beal, the young son of the editor of the Beacon, is very sick with rheumatism of the heart.

See the grand street parade Saturday and attend the Richard & Pringle minstrel in the evening.

Dan Roche and family, of Mason City, have moved to Colorado, where they will reside in the future.

Wilson & Drake have got moved to their south side building, and are rapidly getting their stock in shape again.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Moss King died on Tuesday from pneumonia, and was buried Wednesday.

An insurance adjuster was here the first of the week and made settlement with Stack Bros. over their recent loss by fire.

S. D. Butcher left on Monday morning for Denver to make arrangements for the half-tone engravings for his book.

J. A. Hutchinson is at home, having returned from his Cherry county ranch last week, where he built a house on his homestead.

This office acknowledges a pleasant call from state bank examiner Fred Whittemore, of Long Pine, examiner for this district.

Ralph Howe and Miss Mamie Bennett, two of Ansley's estimable young people, were united in marriage on Wednesday of last week.

Rev. Jesse Teagarden, of Ansley, was a city visitor Tuesday. He reports prospects favorable for knocking out saloons in Ansley this year.

The Callaway Courier says: "The cornstalk disease is not dead yet. No less than twelve head of cattle have died of it in the vicinity of Callaway this week."

Mrs. John Campbell, her son Rube and Miss Cole, of Weiser, were city visitors Saturday, the guests of the family of ye scribe. They returned home Sunday.

The normal school bill having failed to pass the legislature, we are informed that Prof. M. A. Carlton is ready to meet the business men's association, looking towards the establishment of a private business college in Broken Bow.

The ladies of the Christian church will have their annual easter market in the room formerly occupied by O. P. Perley in the Realty block, Saturday, April 6th. Dinner and supper will be served and fancy articles will be on sale.

The teachers and patrons meeting Saturday and Saturday night in this city was a very successful affair. The attendance was so large that the afternoon and night sessions had to be held in the M. E. church building to accommodate the crowd. The discussions were unusually interesting. The address of state superintendent Fowler in the evening was most excellent, both in thought and delivery.

Richard & Pringle's minstrels at the opera house Saturday night. Reserved seats now on sale.

A. B. Cornish and his sister, Mrs. Louise Johnson, of Lodi, were in the city Wednesday making proof on their claims. Mrs. A. B. Cornish improved the opportunity to accompany them to the city and spent the day visiting with friends and relatives.

Judge Sullivan and Dr. Willis Talbot were out north of town last Friday on a wolf hunt, and succeeded in getting one coyote, which was captured by the hounds. Another one was caught, but was too much for the lone hound which had him, and he finally escaped.

The hand of Walt Moise of Omaha is one of the figures on the boards discernable in the coming election. For more than a week we are informed that the license element of the city have had all of the double carriages at the several livery barns engaged and the cash advanced for their use whether the teams are used or not.

The members of the A. O. U. W. enjoyed a banquet at the close of the regular session of their lodge last Tuesday night. Capt. Burnham presided over the culinary department and Willis Cadwell served as toastmaster. It was a royal feast of good things for both the physical and intellectual man, and greatly enjoyed by all.

Noel Harris, the twelve year old son of J. A. Harris, has cards out announcing himself an electrician repairer and agent for electrical goods. Noel is a genius in his line and for the past year he has made a study of electricity. His progress in that branch has been remarkable for a boy of his age, and his ambitions should be encouraged by those who have work that he can do.

Some parties we are informed have been circulating the report that in 1891 when license was defeated, W. J. Woods was a member of the council and voted to grant license. The statement is a mistake; W. J. Woods was not a member of the council that year. The council was composed of G. W. Trefren mayor, J. S. Baish and C. E. Wheeler councilmen for 1st ward, A. J. Robertson and S. J. Loneragan councilmen 2d ward, and G. W. Apple and B. S. Lilly 3d ward.

C. E. Clark, of Weiser, and father of Walter, who was recently bound over to the district court on the complaint of having robbed Mrs. Prudy Allen's store at that place, is authority for the following additional evidence, that was given by Davis in the preliminary trial before Judge Armour, which the REPUBLICAN reporter failed to record in connection with the report of the trial. That Davis said that Armstrong told him, when bringing him over here, "that Clark was working a scheme to get his boys out of this scrape and get you fellows into it."

The storm of last Saturday and Sunday assumed the proportions of a big blizzard a few miles west of Broken Bow. Here the wind blew a gale and some snow fell, but the moisture consisted mostly of rain. About Merna the snow is reported at least a foot deep, and from there on to the west line of the state the storm was a genuine blizzard. Cattle are reported to have suffered greatly on the ranges, and no doubt the loss will be large. The early passenger train going west Sunday morning was snowbound at Ardmore, freight train No. 45 only reached Anselmo, while the local evening passenger only came as far west as Ravenna. On the Union Pacific between Denver and Omaha all trains were delayed from twelve to twenty-four hours. Tuesday morning a person looking to the west could distinguish a line of white extending north and south as far as the eye could see. It was an eight or ten inch snow on the West Table, twelve miles west of here, while at Broken Bow it had all disappeared. The precipitation at this place was 1.13 inches.

W. H. OSBORN, Pres.

Two Statements.

Broken Bow, March 27, 1901. Having been informed that a report is in circulation that I am pledged for certain persons to occupy positions as principal and teachers in the schools, I emphatically and positively state that I am not for or against any person for the principalship of Broken Bow schools, that I am not pledged for or against any teachers for a position in the schools. Signed,

W. H. OSBORN.

Broken Bow, March 27, 1901. It is reported that I am committed to the support of a certain person for the position of superintendent of the Broken Bow public schools, and to certain persons for positions as teachers therein if I am elected a member of the Board of Education. I deny it emphatically. I am not committed in favor of nor against any person for any position whatever, but reserve the right as a patron thereof, if elected, to use my best judgment in the premises.

J. R. DEAN.

Married.

MARRIED:—HARRIS-BARNETT—Sunday, March 24, 1901, in the Baptist church, Charles L. Barnett and Leona May Harris. Rev. S. W. Richards officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Harris, highly respected citizens of this city. She is a lady of culture and refinement, and one of Custer county's most successful teachers.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Barrett of the West Table, and a prosperous farmer. He is a young man who bears an excellent reputation, is industrious and starts in life with flattering prospects before him. He has a fine farm a few miles west of this city, off of which he sold corn last fall raised in one season equal to the value of the farm.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large audience at the close of the morning sermon, by the pastor, Rev. Richards.

The matter had been kept so quiet that but few knew of it until the high contracting parties accompanied by their groomsmen and bridesmaid, and the parents of the bride and groom entered the auditorium at the closing of the last song.

As they marched down the aisle Mrs. Aldin, who presided at the organ, played a wedding march until they reached the front of the rostrum, when Rev. Richards in a short ceremony pronounced them man and wife. Then the entire bridal party retired to the residence of the bride's parents, and the wedding march again being played, when a few invited guests enjoyed an elegant dinner prepared for this occasion.

Mr. Olin Harris acted as groomsmen, and Miss Lucy Harris as bridesmaid, brother and sister of the bride.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harris gave an infaiie dinner at their home, and a number of guests were invited.

The REPUBLICAN extends to the bride and groom congratulations over the happy event, and wish their future may be crowned with happiness and success.
